Women to Star in Grecian Drama

Women will be in the acting spotlight as the drama department presents the Grecian play "Lysistrata" March 19, 20, 21, and 22.

The play will be enacted in the Charles Johnson Theater of the Olive DeLuce Fine Arts Building under the direction of Robert West, assistant professor of dramatics. He is being assisted by student director Jerry Eisenhour, senior drama major.

The challenging play consists of a simple comic plot in which the women of Greece, who are tired and disgusted with war, hold a sex strike. The leader of this strike is an Athenian woman named Lysistrata. After the women achieve their objective, peace comes between Athens and Sparta, and both participate in a festival of wine, women, song, and dance.

The Aristophanic comedy, known for its triumph of high poetic imagination, follows the traditional pattern of Greek drama. The play contains an absurd plot and a triumphant finale, but unlike other comedies of Aristophanes, it contains a superb woman character.

Written in 412 B. C., "Lysistrata" is devoted to the war between Athens and Sparta. Instead of a satire, the playwright used his talents in concentrating on the timeless battle of the sexes.

The male and female need for each other becomes the need of states and nations for each other. With their desire for peace satisfied, no longer is there war, dissension, destruction, and fear. The female, symbolizing peace, wins the battle, thus completing the universal message.

Vickie Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Jackson, Lexington, plays the lead role as Lysistrata. A sophomore drama major, she has appeared in "Skin of Our Teeth," and worked on both "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Streetcar Named Desire."

Other major women's roles will be played by Ruth Ann Duvall, as Myrrhine; Julia Ann Clause, Stratyllis; Gail Bullis, Calonice; Pamela Imes, as first woman to Myrrhine, Barbara Maynes, as Choras, leader of the female chorus.

Individual male roles include parts played by Kirby Carmichael, Don Jackson, Don Folkman, Charles Saunders, Robert Swartz, Don Morris, Phillip Swinney, Jack Estes, and John Hindal, leader of the male chorus.

Members of the Women's chorus are Fran Fleming, Marilyn Mack, Linda Martin, Cathi Hoising, Neeta Day, Susan Blakesley, Carolyn Farber, Mary Gamble, Lila Kinder, and Tanya Simmons.

Made chorus members include Bud Simmons, Herb Petty, Jerry Casey, George Bailey, and Dave Hansen.

Tickets are available weekdays between 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. in the speech office of the Administration Building. Students may obtain them through their activity tickets, and others may call for reservations by phoning 582-4913.

Application for Degree Deadline Is March 14

Seniors who will graduate in May 1969 must file an application for a degree in the Registrar's Office before March 14.

This application is extremely important because it is used for ordering diplomas and checking seniors for graduation. Mrs. Ruth Nystrom, registrar, pointed out. Those filing after March 14 will not receive a diploma at graduation.

The college catalog states that every senior is required to fill out this application one semester before he graduates. Those graduating in summer 1969 or fall 1970 should file this semester.

Any woman who has married since filing her application for her degree should notify the office immediately so that her name will be properly listed on the diploma and commencement program.

Area Ambassadors To Visit on Campus

The 1968-69 High School Ambassador Visitation Program, under the direction of Field Services, is in full swing, with the fifth and sixth visitations scheduled for March 13-15 and 27-29.

Serving as host groups are Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity.

The ambassadors will follow a schedule that has been planned to give them an overall picture of campus life.

Danny Cox, Brewer and Shipley To Present Country Soul Concert

Union Board Program Committee will present Danny Cox and the folk duo of Brewer and Shipley in a dual concert at 8 p. m. March 15 in Lamkin Gymnasium.

"He looks like a football player, sings like a basso, talks like an 'in' college professor, and radiates charm like Harry Belafonte. Thus has Danny Cox, a rising young performer, been described by Pat Henney of the Rocky Mountain News.

Cox, whose "explosive yet warm voice" carries his audience from soul to blues to folk music with ease, has appeared at Carnegie Hall, on the Danny Kaye Show, and at colleges and universities across the United States. Recently he finished taping a television pilot show with the producer of the "Graduate."

A folk duo, Mike Brewer and Tom Shipley, will present the second half of the concert.

Both veteran performers have toured the country, Shipley, singing and playing the guitar by himself in nightspots across the Midwest and Brewer with a group, before the two met in California.

After one year together their unity and creativity became something constant and enduring, culminating in their success as a new folk duo. Brewer and Shipley are grass-root lyricists; their songs have a strong personal message that is both direct and universal in thought. Preferring the country to the city, they feel that the creative urge is stronger in the back country.

Commenting on the rural appeal, Brewer said, "I would rather play music in the country. I think that audiences are much more responsive in the Midwest."

Both play the acoustic guitar well, using it to create a unique blend of tone that further compliments their vocal harmony. Musically, their goal is "to become more spontaneous, more real . . . to reach a point where communication can only increase, and with it the quality and trueness of their music."

Janet Wilson Reigns At 1969 Tower Dance

Tower Queen Janet Wilson

Miss Janet Wilson, sponsored by Men's Dorm Council, was crowned Tower queen Saturday night at the annual Tower dance, "Kaleidoscope."

Miss Wilson, crowned by

Barry Monaghan, student vice president, is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha, AWS, Union Board, and Daughters of Diana. She is now serving as secretary of Panhellenic Council.

The queen's attendants, the Misses Charlene Rush, Pat Shradel, Barbara Hardy, and Jan Wilkes, were also honored at the dance.

Erich Winter, editor-elect, presented the annual theme, "Understanding."

Mike Miller, Maryville senior, is editor of the yearbook, which will be distributed in early spring. Mr. Howard Ringold is yearbook sponsor, and Dr. Frank Grube is the literary adviser.

Women Invited To Enter Contest For 'Miss Maryville'

The Maryville Jaycees have set March 25 as the date for the preliminary contest which will determine the 10 finalists for the "Miss Maryville Pageant."

The program, as well as the April 10 final program, will be held in the Charles Johnson Theater of the Olive DeLuce Fine Arts Building.

The preliminary contest will judge natural appearance, talent, and the ability to speak before an audience.

Any campus organization is encouraged to enter candidates before noon Friday, March 21. Entries should be submitted to Bob Cotter, Field Service Office. Rules and regulations for the Pageant may also be obtained there.

MSC coeds who enter the contest will have a chance to win scholarships and trophies while qualifying for the Miss Missouri Pageant in Springfield this summer.

Dialogue: Reapportionment

"At least one out of every six in the dormitories is not represented."

"If the independent students want to be represented they will have to build up their party."

"Is the senate adequate in size?" "Every 100 Greeks have one representative while every 620 Independents have the same representation."

"Commuters and off-campus students are not represented at all."

These and many more opinions, questions and statements were exposed at the last meeting of Dialogue, Feb. 27, when the question of reapportionment was brought under scrutiny.

Three possible plans concerning the revision of apportionment were presented by Dave Hockensmith with a revealing discussion following. It was suggested that a workable proposal be presented to the Student Senate "to get the ball rolling."

At the next meeting of Dialogue, scheduled for March 17, at 7 p. m., Greek representatives will explain the fraternity and sorority system. Election of officers will also be held.

Among The Birches

By John Ford

Some of my readers who are walking among the birches but unable to park there are beginning to complain about changes to the color and finish of their automobiles when parked in Lot 6. A great bird in the sky, perhaps?

You know what office hours are, don't you? Those are the hours that instructors set aside for student conferences and consultation. They are more often the times that the instructors go down the hall to see a friend or colleague for just a minute.

This is the point in the semester when grade scales lean too much toward the bottom, and instructors are thinking of ways to get all those students back into the "C" range.

How about the Kansas City student who was in such a hurry to get to a Monday morning class that his car got away from him and hit a tree? Thank goodness it wasn't a Birch.

They haven't been able to tell yet whether it was the wet, muddy pre-spring conditions or the first "bush" of the year that left the Sig Tau driveway in a "quagmire" state.

Birchers who follow the activities of the student legislative body anxiously await word on open housing from the President's office. We wonder what the word will be for all those guys thinking about marriage. Anything to help them out would be great.

Special Food Service Explained in Brochure

The MSC Food Service Office has issued a menu brochure to aid students and other college personnel in planning for luncheons and banquets.

The brochure, which also includes the menu of the College Pastry Shop, may be obtained from the office of the Director of Food Service, Mr. Glen F. Vogt. Prices are listed in the brochure.

...Who's Who and What's What...

As a result of many concerned inquiries on how the selections for Who's Who at MSC are made, the Missourian staff offers the following information to its readers:

Who's Who is a means of honoring outstanding graduating seniors on campus that have made above-average contributions through service, leadership, and participation in various campus organizations.

The Who's Who selections are made once per year during the spring semester. Anyone may apply for membership provided he is to be a graduating senior of that semester with at least a two-point grade average.

According to Vic Jenkins, chairman of the Senate's Who's Who Committee, there are two means of applying for membership in Who's Who. The school's departmental chairmen are asked by the committee to nominate any number of prospective applicants. The nominations are turned in to Dean Charles E. Koerble, and the nominees are contacted. Seniors seeking application on their own also pick up and hand in their application blanks at Dean Koerble's office. All applications are cleared through the Dean of Student's office.

Letters and applications are sent to seniors participating in the student teaching program in order that they may have an equal chance to apply.

The question has been raised many times on how the final decisions are made. The Student Senate is the backbone of the selection of candidates for Who's Who. The Senate's standing committee titled the Student Affairs Board (also the Who's Who Committee) is the governing group for the selections. The committee works on the entire project, and the final tallying of points is done by the Senate as a whole.

An objective point system is used for the selection. This method helps to eliminate any personal bias.

"This year's applicants," Jenkins said, "accumulated an unusually high number of points."

The Student Affairs Committee is investigating the possibility of affiliating MSC with the national Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

As a finale on Honors Night, the Senate presents gifts and monogrammed parchments to the Who's Who honorees.

Luboff Choir Performs For Capacity Audience

The Norman Luboff Choir performed a two-hour concert Feb. 28 before a capacity crowd in the Charles Johnson Theater.

The 27-voice choir entertained area residents with 19 selections ranging from the classical works of Casals and Bach to the contemporary compositions of artists such as Barber and Williams.

Mr. Luboff directed the Choir in two selections which he had written, "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Laughing Song." The latter accented the universal power of the laugh while the former composition dealt with various everyday problems such as starvation and air pollution.

A short intermission was followed by selections from various collections of folk and popular music. During this phase of the program, the vocalists were accompanied by a drum soloist and a guitar soloist as well as by their pianist. The more familiar songs included "Jambalaya" and "Lara."

The final selection was a unique melody composed by Mr. Luboff.

The 550 seats in Charles Johnson Theater were filled, and extra chairs had to be obtained. Many people were turned away from the ticket office because no more chairs could safely be set up in the theater without causing a fire hazard.

The dynamic conductor and his choir well deserved the thunderous applause after each number and the standing ovation at the conclusion of the program. The Performing Arts Committee, instrumental in bringing the choir to the campus, also deserves commendation.

From the Editor's Mail

Dear Sir:

I would like to thank the Northwest Missourian staff for devoting an increasing coverage to those aspects of our campus life where there are widespread differences of opinion. I hope this tendency will continue.

The discussion of core tests seems to me very typical of many of the problems on our campus. Many persons, both students and faculty, were, for various reasons, unhappy about these tests, but rarely before were the reasons for their discontent openly expressed. Now that the objections have been made public, it was possible for a meaningful dialogue to begin and for those who are convinced that such tests have a useful role to play

Dear Editor,

I've been cheated by the school! It has been my understanding, apparently mistaken, that my tuition was to cover the cost of textbooks. However, for the third semester in a row I have been short changed in the textbook room.

"Well, I'm afraid you'll have to borrow someone else's book, won't you?" How many times have I heard that?

I'm getting tired of running around leeching off other people who need to study just as much as I do. I realize that the school's policy of book rental is cheap and designed to save the student added expense, but if the school can't handle the load, then perhaps it's time to change systems.

I've done a lot of complaining, but here are three possible solutions to this problem. The school could always limit the number of students in a course to correspond with the number of textbooks. Or, the policy of purchasing books could be instituted at MSC. However, I believe that the best solution would be to start a pre-registration program which would help the school more accurately anticipate the number of enrollees in a class.

I've flunked enough tests! Let's get something done.

By the way, does anybody have an extra introduction to fiction book?

—Bill Musgrave

to explain their reasons for thinking so in a logical manner. Perhaps nothing was settled; the critics may remain unconvinced, even the defenders of the system admit that it is imperfect, but at least the widespread suspicion that such tests exist solely for the harassment of all concerned, are intended to be purely arbitrary and that no one had ever given any thought to the purposes behind them should have been dispelled.

I would also like to take this opportunity to try to correct a false impression which may have arisen concerning one of my responses to your questionnaire which was published in last week's article. I scribbled down my comments very quickly to meet your questioners' deadline and perhaps I did not make my meaning clear or perhaps the error crept in in the process of trying to decipher my handwriting or somewhere else along the process of writing, rewriting and typesetting. In any case, what I had intended to say was that "constructing a good core test is a troublesome, time-consuming process which gets steadily more difficult depending on how the number of faculty involved increases." The more faculty members who are involved in teaching a multi-section course, the harder it is for all of them to participate in the construction of the test and to make certain that the test will be truly fair to all the sections involved.

Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
James Lyle DeMarce

Controversial Film-Talk Scheduled by Union

The Union Program Council will present "Good Times, Wonderful Times," a satirical film dealing with the ironies of Twentieth century warfare.

The film will begin at 7 p. m. Thursday in the Union Ballroom. A period of discussion will be held after the film if desired by the audience.

Deterioration of Fighting Quality Feared in Volunteer Forces Plan

President Lyndon B. Johnson reported to Congress in March, 1967, that "we cannot realistically expect to meet our present commitments or our future requirements with a military force relying exclusively on volunteers."

President Nixon, detailed Pentagon officials, however, have forecast that "a detailed plan of action for ending the draft" will be developed within a year.

Authorities have acknowledged the difficulty in finding an acceptable alternative to the current system of selective service but look hopefully to the reaction on volunteer enlistments of higher pay, improved housing, retirement benefits, and family accommodations.

In a recent article, AP military writer Fred S. Hoffman, quotes an earlier Johnson report, "In the absence of the draft . . . surveys indicate that . . . reduction of voluntary enlistments would occur among individuals with above-average educational attainment. . ."

Apparently it is believed that the quality of men serving the armed forces would deteriorate. The Johnson report also stated that the better educated "are the major source of trainees for the many highly technical military specialists."

Chairman John Stennis D-Miss., said: "Personally, I do not see how we could ever attain a so-called volunteer Army without some kind of Selective Service Act."

Realistically viewed, the draft law itself is a compelling force in getting armed forces volunteers.

President Nixon has not given a special timetable nor any definite proposal for an all-volunteer Army. Ideally, he has set the attainment of this goal when "our involvement in the Vietnam war is behind us." He also said he would encourage the revision of the current draft law when the costs of the Vietnam war are substantially reduced.

Until such a time we can only surmise when the day will come that the volunteer draft becomes a reality.

AWS to Induct New Leaders, Give Woman of Year Award

The Associated Women Students will hold a banquet in the Union Ballroom at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday for the installation of new officers and the presentation of the AWS Woman of the Year award.

Recently elected officers to be installed are Barbara Hardy, president; Ellen Hamilton and Charlene Rush, vice presidents; Phyllis Hardy, recording secretary; Diane Hutchings, treasurer; Debbie Elms, IAWS contact; Debbie Granger, historian; Nancy Powell, Senate representative; Linda Younger, reporter, and Cindy Hager, Bearcub chairman.

The Woman of the Year award will be given to a coed who has done outstanding work in AWS throughout the year. Nominations for the award are made by members of the organization. The AWS executive council selects five women from the nominees to be honored at the banquet. From these five the Woman of the Year will be named by the

The retiring officers, newly elected officers, and the AWS General Council are invited to attend. The candidates for the Woman of the Year award and the residence hall house mothers will also be guests at the banquet.

There will be no charge for admission.

Faculty Members Advance in Rank

Promotions in rank for four faculty members have been announced by Dr. Leon F. Miller, dean of instruction.

Dr. Herman G. Collins has advanced from the rank of assistant professor to associate professor of industrial arts. Dr. Lawrence E. Zillner has advanced from assistant professor to associate professor of education.

Mr. Wayne VanZomeran has been promoted from instructor to assistant professor of psychology, and Mr. James Broderick from instructor to assistant professor of art.

Recommendations for promotions are made to Dr. Robert P. Foster, president of the college, by the advisory committee on rank, of which Dr. Miller is ex-officio chairman. Dr. Foster in turn makes recommendations to the Board of Regents.

Beard Growers Enter Competition

Competition in a beard growing contest sponsored by Men's Dorm Council started Monday and will end with the announcement of winners at the Ugly Man Carnival April 25.

The competition is divided into three divisions: best styling, mustaches, and fullest beard. Cash prizes will be given in each of the three divisions.

All proceeds from the entrance fees will go to the student loan fund.

International Hosts Prepare Exotic Food for 300 Guests

Gitoero from Kenya, tempura from Japan, and addas polo from Iran were just a few of the delicacies served by MSC foreign students at their highly successful International Dinner.

Working long hours in preparation, 26 students from other lands received more than 300 instructors, town's people, and students in an effort to raise money to pay expenses for their International Students Organization.

Those attending received a booklet of recipes for each dish sampled. Other exotic foods included patpreowan from Thailand, chow fen from Hong Kong, Bohnensalat from Germany, tostadas from Mexico and Guatemala, chapati from Kenya, nargesi from Iran, and for dessert, sawine from Trinidad.

Because of power difficulties, recordings of music from the homelands of the students could not be played during the dinner, and the program was slightly delayed.

Those working with the ambassadorship program were introduced and commended for their efforts. Checks were presented to Mr. Everett Brown, assistant to the president, by Mr. Don Hagan, who gave the proceeds from the Faculty Frolics, and by Miss Myra Norman, the receipts from the recent Alpha Mu Gamma bake sale. Both gifts will be used in the ambassador program.

Short inspirational talks were given by two of last year's college ambassadors, Pat Shradel and Fred Beavers, covering the highlights of their respective stays and what they gained from the program. Also introduced were the new college ambassadors for the coming summer.

Farshad Saremi, a student at Kansas State University in Manhattan, welcomed the dinner guests in behalf of his uncle, Houshang Saremi, who was hospitalized by a recent automobile accident.

A Mexican dance, "La Bambola" was presented by Leticia Monso and Enriqueta Cano.

Original poetry in Japanese and English was shared by Kenichi Moriguchi. This was followed by a vigorous boxing exhibition by Sawasdi Kesla and Sermasakdi Manakul, demonstrating Thai boxing. To the amazement of an appreciative audience, this sport allows the use of feet as well as gloves.

An amusing question and answer skit was staged by Dennis Mather, Paul Kangethe, and Fred Norouzi, illustrating some of the humorous questions foreign students are asked by those Americans curious about their homelands.

For the finale a Japanese dance was performed by Haruyo Sadaie.

The International Students were introduced by Mr. Richard Landes, their adviser, and Kangethe, president of the organization, offered his thanks to those who have supported them.

A wall painting was presented to Mr. Landes by Norouzi, secretary of IS, as a token of appreciation from the group.

Senate Hears Reports:

Women's Hours, Open Housing New Colony, Pass-Fail Grades

Extended hours to 11:30 p. m. on Sunday through Thursday nights for women students, with half-hour late leaves any night, will go into effect next fall.

Senator Barb McAvoy reported to the Senate Thursday night that these changes have been passed by Associated Women Students and approved by President Robert P. Foster.

The constitution of the new Greek Phi Alpha colony was approved by a close vote only after a heated discussion, which was directed toward the fact that Phi Alpha has not been recognized by the Inter-Fraternity Council.

According to Dean Charles E. Koerble, the open housing resolution has been reviewed by President Foster and the deans. Some revision will be made on the proposition before it is placed before the Board of Regents for action March 18.

Senator Pete Richardson related to the Senate his findings in regard to instituting the pass-fail system at MSC. Senator Richardson will meet with faculty and administrative representatives in order to formulate a joint resolution on the proposed system.

In other Senate business, Senator Mick Buehler was appointed to write to U. S. Senator Mark Hatfield in reference to a letter from Senator Hatfield trying to enlist the students' aid in supporting the voluntary draft proposal.

Miss Brader Heads MSC Gymnastics Club

Carol Brader has been chosen president of the Gymnastics Club for the coming year.

Other new officers are Linda Flachslund, vice president; Helen Duncan, treasurer; Millie Magner, secretary, and Gene Paul, reporter. Members of the publicity committee are Jackie Oliphant, Kathy Hatfield, LaDonna Bowers, and Carol McClure.

The club is now accepting new members.

Peace Corps' Purpose Is to 'Assist Mankind'

The Peace Corps, created in 1961 by the late President John F. Kennedy, offers to its volunteers an opportunity to "assist mankind against the oppressions of disease, hunger, and the lack of education. . . ."

This is a portion of the statement of purpose for the Peace Corps by Jack Vaughn, director.

To be eligible for Peace Corps volunteer service, the applicant must be a United States citizen; be at least 18 years old; have no dependents under 18 years old; if married, serve with one's spouse; never have worked for an intelligence agency, either military or civilian, and be able to start Peace Corps training within 12 months.

Anyone interested in the program may secure materials and application forms in Dr. Charles E. Koerble's office.

Service Fraternity Has 6-Member Pledge Class

Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity, has six new pledges.

They are Ron Jennings, Ray Furst, John Moberg, Robert Brill, Charn Wongshearkao, and Sermakdi Manakul.

The Stroller encountered a troop of Horace Mann school children dutifully marching two by two on the way to the library. College students moved aside with an "Ah, to be in grade school again" look on their faces.

The Stroller has heard that plans for a bigger and better Walkout Day are being made. Everyone is advised to be on the lookout for more details.

A social dance class was conducted in Perrin Hall by three noted enthusiasts.

Three talented young women demonstrated their talents at doing the east coast swing, the rumba, and the fox trot. No problems arose until one of them decided she needed a partner and then . . .

The girls were unusually good and Mrs. Jerald Brekke would surely have been quite impressed!

Men living on third floor of Phillips Hall saw a little action last week when somebody started making doors disappear. Counselors were upset by the incident, but soon got over it.

Spring is here and so is the opening of the MSC drag strip by the National Guard Armory. The Stroller, having noticed several drivers checking the pavement, questions what the cost would be if a dragger should get caught.

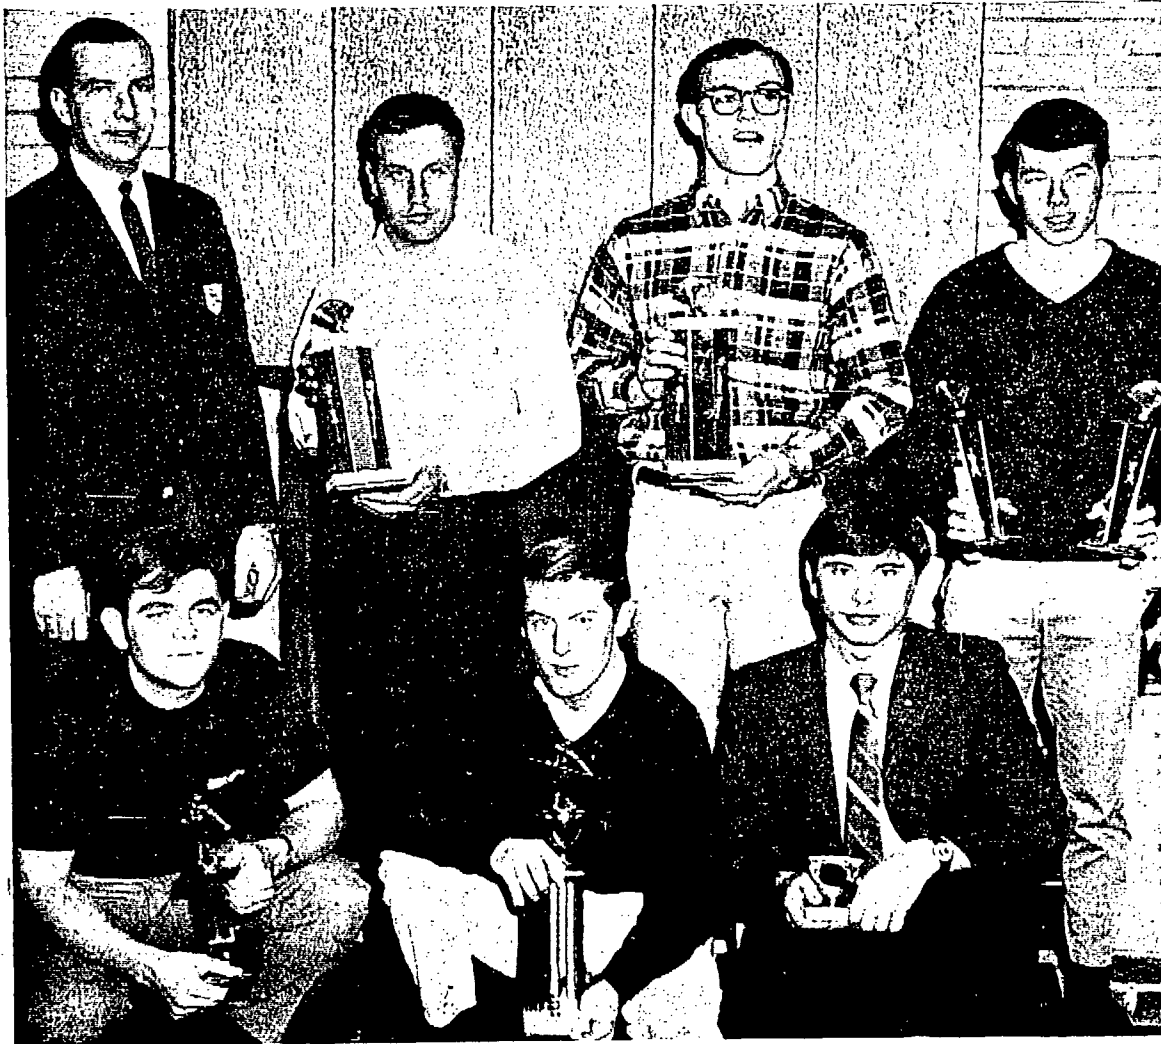

A new student teacher can be seen daily trudging between Perrin Hall and Horace Mann School. She can be detected by her abundant supply of papers and books which she transports so carefully.

Early in the morning she awakens with triumphant ideas about being outstanding in the field of education. Yet, at the end of the day she gathers her necessary articles and feebly proceeds back home.

Once there her feet scream for freedom; therefore, she slowly removes her shoes and begins the tedious climb to her room on the fourth floor.

When one group was told that they had to give equal space to each candidate for Tower Queen to pass out campaign literature they democratically complied with the rules. But who is going to translate Chinese to read about the other candidates?

PH Men Receive Pool, Bridge Trophies

Phillips Hall's newly instituted dorm council sponsored recent pool and bridge tournaments as new phases of its widening activity program.

At an informal trophy presentation in PH lobby last week, the PHDC announced the winners of the tournaments. In front are the three pool award winners, Tom Brick, 2nd place; Frank Longacre, 1st; and Bruce Turpin, 3rd. Standing are Mr. Randall Wolcott, assistant dean of men, and the winners of the bridge tourney, Curt Andersen and Merrill Sommer, 1st place trophies, and Larry Newhouse and Bob McDaniel (not shown), 2nd place.

Dr. Charles Nichols, local bridge instructor, conducted the bridge tournament; PH residents, the pool tournament.

PHDC is gaining recognition in the hall and on campus as a service council in itself but it is also working in conjunction with the overall Men's Residence Hall Council. Projects such as the weekly hot dog sale each Sunday evening from 5 to 6:30 p. m. help to raise funds for such things as tourney trophies and several hall subscriptions to various city news publications.

Public Is Invited To Hear 'Requiem'

The public is invited to hear the Maryville Community Chorus sing Brahms' "A German Requiem" at 8 p. m. tonight in the First Christian church.

Mr. Gilbert Whitney, MSC music instructor, and Miss Dorothy Powell, former MSC faculty member, will sing solos. The chorus will be accompanied by piano, organ, and tympani.

Dr. Robert Govier, department of foreign language, directs the 60 member chorus made up of Maryville and Nodaway county residents. The Community Chorus, sponsored by the Nodaway Arts Council, was organized a year ago.

The "Requiem" will be sung in English. It was first sung in German 102 years ago in Vienna.

Exotic Suspense Story Highlights Den Movie

"Gambit," the feature movie sponsored by the Union Board this week, will begin at 7 p. m. Friday in the Administration Building Auditorium.

"Gambit" is a suspense thriller set against the exotic backgrounds and intrigue of Hong Kong and the Middle East. Three-time Academy Award nominee Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine of "Alfie" and the "Ipccress File" are the daring pair of self-made master criminals. This tightly-knit film of international art theft has a half-dozen surprise endings — each one more amazing than the one before.

Pass-Fail System

The University of Missouri at Columbia has introduced a limited pass-fail system of grading which will go into effect in September.

The new procedure was developed so that students could select courses in other fields without fear of having their grade averages pulled down by a course which was too difficult. The Satisfactory-Unsatisfactory grades will not be figured in grade averages.

Beginning freshmen and students on scholastic probation will not be permitted to take courses under this system.

Child Study Center Planned

A Child Study Center will soon be under construction at Stephens College, Columbia. The $240,000 structure will provide a laboratory experience for students working in the fields of community study, teacher education, psychology, sociology, and other social sciences.

Dr. Rivers Raises Rollers

English Prof: 'Bird Man' of MSC

Dr. Charles Rivers, English professor, has been interested in birds since childhood, particularly the famed Birmingham Roller Pigeon. In a recent interview Dr. Rivers told how this unusual hobby had its beginning.

"It was just fate, I suppose," he explained. "I was about 10 when I moved to San Jose. There was an old barn in the back with all these pigeons, you see, in the loft."

The Birmingham Roller Pigeon is noted for its exclusive ability to turn over backwards and rotate with inestimable speed for considerable distances downwards. Each revolution is so close to another that the bird wraps itself up like a small ball as it speeds straight downward. These rolls are made with such rapidity that the pigeon appears like a ball with a small hole in the middle.

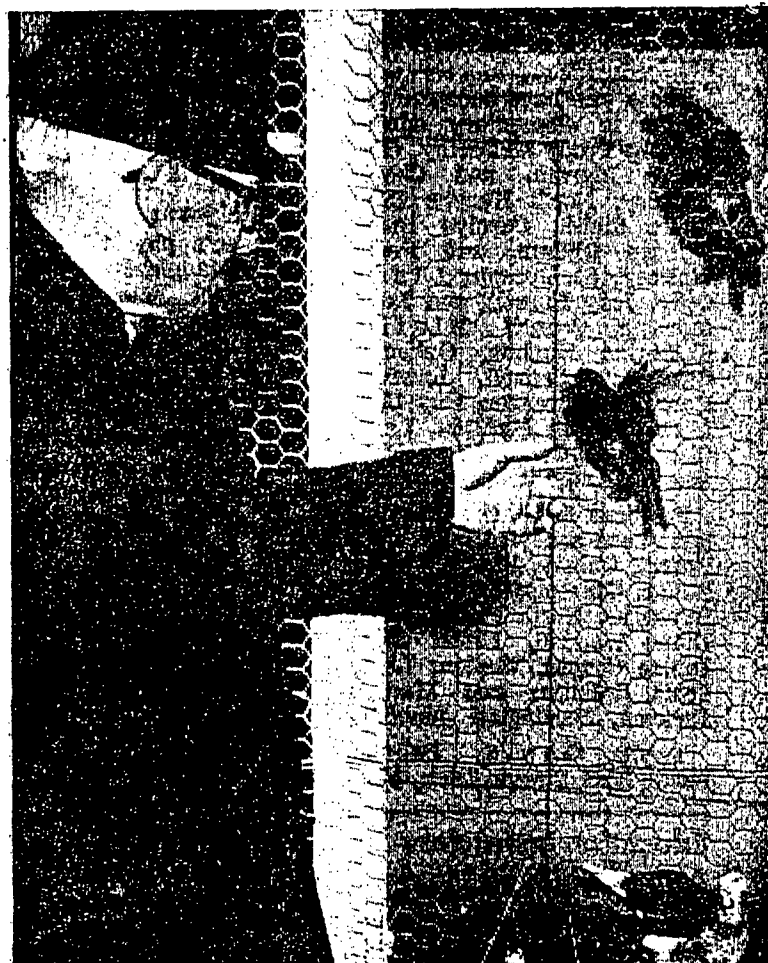

"I've always had an interest in birds. In fact, I was once expelled from a Los Angeles grade school because of it!" Chuckling he continued, "You see, I saw a bird I did not know on the limb outside and began to memorize its characteristics. The teacher called on me but I just ignored her."

Dr. Rivers owns "around one hundred" Birmingham Pigeons which he keeps in two specially built lofts in his backyard. He has personally raised all except two.

"I should dispose of about half of them, but I just don't have the heart," he confessed.

Although Dr. Rivers raises the birds only for his own pleasure, there are many contests scheduled each year where Birmingham Pigeons from around the nation compete for honors. Dr. Rivers has judged at several of these events including many in California and in Des Moines.

"The Roller is quite popular and can be found in almost all parts of the country. St. Joseph holds a big Roller show yearly. Maryville, however, is not much of a bird center," Dr. Rivers said.

Rollers must be trained before they are ready for flight. With correct training a young bird, after a period of two or three weeks of good flying, will begin to tumble and will soon be capable of making several tumbles in rapid succession.

"If the bird is not trained well, he will get scared in the air, zoom over the loft and fly away," commented Dr. Rivers.

Several books have been written on the Birmingham Roller. Dr. Rivers contributed to the available literature by writing the introduction to the book by William H. Pensom, The Birmingham Roller Pigeon. A member of the Pensom Roller Club for many years, Dr. Rivers has received letters from as far away as South Africa asking for information regarding this unusual bird.

In closing, this 'bird man' of Maryville, said, "The study of Rollers is an interesting field, open to anyone, but you see, pigeon people are funny people."

State Colleges Object To Purchasing Plan

MSC is one of four state colleges contesting the right of state purchasing agent James Schaffner to control the use of non-appropriated funds.

Last week MSC, Southwest Missouri State, Central Missouri State, and Northeast Missouri State asked the Cole County circuit court to prevent Schaffner from buying goods for them. Schaffner maintains that he is required by law to handle purchases of more than $50 for state schools.

April 7 is the date set by Judge James T. Riley for the hearing.

Dr. Smay to Supervise 100's of Contestants

Dr. John Smay, music department chairman, will be a busy man on campus this week-end since he is in charge of the District music contests involving 53 area schools and more than 100 small groups and individual soloists.

A total of 30 bands will compete in the event.

Coach J. Landwer Initiates Doctorate Research Project

Not everyone runs the mile in 4:37.6. Many of us would be lucky to finish in under seven or eight minutes. Should all of us be thrown into the same physical education program?

Coach Jerry Landwer, physical education instructor at MSC, doesn't believe so. He has initiated a research project at Lamkin Gymnasium, in connection with his doctoral studies at the University of Missouri, to find a better answer. The research involves determining how much exercise in various individuals will produce the maximum benefits on the heart and respiratory systems.

"We're hoping, through scientific study, to find a training program that will produce the greatest benefits for the individual. Different people need different amounts and types of exercise for best results," he remarked.

Coach Landwer selects subjects who do poorly on the 600-yard run. They exercise on a bicycle ergometer, which determines a measurable amount of work. Electrodes are attached to the subject's chest during the activity. Inked recordings on a physiograph indicate changes in heart rate, oxygen consumption, blood pressure, and other physiological variables.

Through interpretation of these readings, Mr. Landwer hopes to find the most suitable program for that particular individual.

Such programming should benefit the fit as well as the unfit, Coach Landwer said. For those of us suffering from the "punies" — well — there's still hope. — Ed Micus

Wrestlers to Compete In NCAA Tournament

The MSC wrestling squad strive for national recognition this week when Coach Gary Collins and four of his grapplers travel to San Luis Obispo, Calif., to compete in the NCAA College Division Wrestling Tournament.

Wrestling in the annual tournament will be Wayne Garcia, Paul Stehman, Gary James, and Bill Mueller, weighing in at 123, 137, 145, and 167 lbs., respectively. Stan Zeamer, co-captain of the team, along with Stehman, will be unable to make the trip because of an injury.

In Conference Swim Meet ...

Rookies to Determine Outcome

The Bearcat swimmers will bare fang and webbed claw March 14 and 15 in the fourth annual MIAA conference swim meet to be held in the Central Missouri State pool at Warrensburg.

Four teams — NWMS, CMS, SWMS and SEMS — will battle for the conference title in a match which sports writers think will be dominated by the first three teams. Coach Lewis Dyche said Southwest is the only conference team to beat the 'Cats, but he expects Central Missouri to be their toughest opponent. Last year MSC bowed in second place to CMS, but several of Central's 1968 swimmers did not return this year.

Steve Conner, a third place winner in last year's 100 - yard butterfly, will compete in the same event backing Alvin Green, MSC's outstanding swimmer. In the 100-yard freestyle, Jerry Peirce, last year's fourth place holder, will compete against the same opponents.

Ron Harris, number two breaststroker last year, will appear again to swim against Casey, CMS; Bliggenstorfer, SEMS, and Marshall, SWMS. Mark Thomas — third place — is the only repeating backstroker.

None of last year's freestyle competitors in the 500-yard event will appear, but Hersh, CMS; Scheneder, SWMS, and Sanders, MSC, have beaten the 1968 mark in dual meets this year.

Central Missouri State captured first and second places in the '68 diving competition but Dick Konecny, MSC, and Gilliland, SEMS, have both beaten

Central's divers in dual competition.

All of the MIAA 400-yard freestyle teams have bettered last year's conference mark of 3:32.5 except SE. Coach Dyche believes the race will be wide open.

Randy Hansen, 1968 50-yard freestyle winner, will be aided this season by Jerry Peirce. Previous placeholders in the 200-yard butterfly will be challenged by 'Cat Alvin Green and SW's Artaie. Both swimmers have surpassed the conference time of last year.

Coach Dyche expects the 200-yard freestyle to be dominated by last year's first place winner, Casey, CMS. He will be challenged by Ray Schneider of SW. Each competing school will send the same men which competed in 1968. Central's Casey is favored to win the event; Puck and Harris of NW are expected to place second and third.

The Bearcat medley relay team, the only MIAA quartet to clock under four minutes this season is the probable victor of the event, according to Mr. Dyche.

The 1650 - yard freestyle, done only in the conference meet, is expected to be won again this year by Hersh of Central Missouri State. Bob Sanders and Pat Hennessey, both of MSC, will battle Hersh in the endurance event.

"The meet is going to depend on the newcomers. If the freshmen can carry the load, we can win it: people such as Dave Dorn, Bruce Schomburg, Vic Konecny, Bob Finch, Craig Puck and Pat Hennessey," commented Coach Dyche.

Sigma Phi Dolphins Schedule Swim Show

The Sigma Phi Dolphin annual swim show will be presented Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings, beginning at 8 p. m. in the Martindale Gymnasium.

The theme of this year's show, "Once Upon a Time," centers around a routine of various fairy tales. It is presented in six numbers.

The Dolphins will present the show under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Sisson and Mrs. Barbara Bernard, members of the physical education department faculty.

Dolphins who will participate in the swim show are Vicki Baker, Pam Bonner, Sue Dahlhauser, Kerry Henry, Jody Holferty, Jackie Keppers, Sandy Kinkade, Cheryl Rice, and Sue Walkup.

Student tickets may be purchased at Martindale Gymnasium or from Sigma Phi Dolphin members.

Mr. Easterla Helps Maryville Merchants Swish The Meshes

Mr. David Easterla, a member of the staff of the MSC biology department, knows much about protozoans, amoebas . . . and basketball.

Mr. Easterla plays with the Maryville Merchants, a town team sponsored by 15 local businessmen. A graduate of the University of Missouri, he is no stranger to the world of sports. As an undergraduate, he participated in track and wrestling and played with a local basketball team in Columbia. Since coming to Maryville, he has played four years with the Merchants.

It is not unusual for a post-game story to show Mr. Easterla as the leading scorer with a tally well up in the double figures.

The Maryville Merchant's have bombarded the baskets for a season's total of 2,153 points while allowing their opponents 1,696 points. This would average out to a 119-94 score each game.

Individual scoring leaders are Mr. Easterla with 479 points, an average of 28 points per game, and Mr. Wolcott, who totaled 435 points with a 27.3 points per game average.

The merchants play other local teams from Northwest Missouri and Southwest Iowa. Having won last year's annual tournament at Ridgeway, they are looking forward to the annual Metro League tournament at St. Joseph. Their season high came when they scored 200 points against the Ravenwood team.

Other faculty members participating with the Merchants are Randall Wolcott, Jerry Winsor, Donald Hagan, and Gary Collins.

Sports Spikes

By Joe Fleming

If you read the Missourian's sports page last week, you may have gotten the impression that the MSC basketball team finished fourth in the MIAA Conference. At least you should have. It was the biggest headline on page 12. Anyway, what I'm trying to tell you is don't believe it. It just isn't that way. Actually, here are the final standings,

CMS	8-2
SWMS	8-2
NWMS	6-4
NEMS	6-4
SEMS	2-8
Rolla	0-10

The way I see it: . . . we didn't finish fourth at all. We finished in a tie for second with Kirksville, both teams having identical 6-4 records.

Incidentally, this is the best Maryville has done since the 1949-1950 season — a tribute to Coaches Dick Buckridge and Bob Iglehart.

So, I'd like to set the record straight along with an apology to all for the misinformation.

To change the subject a little, I'd like to comment on the baseball field. The new fence installed this summer is great! We surely needed it. The infield should be in fine shape in time for the season's opener later this month. But, what about that ridiculous "sandlot" backstop? Surely we can do better than that. . .

I might add that facilities don't necessarily make a team good or bad. Coach Dyche proved this by excellent recruiting last year and developing a terrific swim team to show for it this year. He did it all in spite of our wonderful "Olympic-size" pool.

As for the 1969 football captains, Steve Schottel will head the offensive troop while Dave Rebori takes command of the defense.

Dave Ross was originally elected for the defensive post, but he is presently not in school. Rebori was selected as his replacement. Let me say that these are fine choices. Both are top competitors and well conditioned athletes.

Blue Key, Embers Tappees Announced

New tappees for Embers are Connie Suell, Martha Waits, Elaine Thompson, Connie Diehl, Barbara Hardy, Barbara Woods, Phyllis Aebersold, and Jeanie Everett. Miss Pat Mitch has also been tapped as the new sponsor for the organization, which is concerned

In the above picture are new members of Blue Key, announced Saturday at the Tower dance. They are Stan Wright, Eric Winter, David Hockensmith, and Steve Schottel. The announcement was made by John Price, president. The honorary organization for men has interests similar to those of Embers for women.

HUD Grants $2,800,000 Loan For Dormitory Construction

Official confirmation by the Federal Housing and Urban Development Office in Washington for the construction of two new high rise dormitories on the Northwest Missouri State College campus was received Feb. 28 by President Robert Foster.

HUD authorized a loan of $2,800,000 for the new buildings, expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1970. They will be located on the northwest corner of the campus in the same area and of the same design as Franken and Phillips Halls, built in 1966.

One will house 312 single women; the other, 312 single men. This will make four of the planned eight dormitory complex which will eventually serve 2,640 students in on-campus facilities. Those in the new housing units will eat in the same cafeteria as do the inhabitants of Franken and Phillips.

Blueprints are ready, and bids will be received soon for the immediate start of construction.

Rebecca Scheduled As Sunday Movie

"Rebecca," an Alfred Hitchcock mystery drama, will be shown as a Union Den movie Sunday, beginning at 7 p. m.

Taken from the best-selling mystery novel by Daphne DuMaurier, "it captures the imagination of all who see it." The cast portrays well the people who live in the ghostly shadow of Rebecca.

International Coeds Head AHEA Panel

A panel of international students presented a program following the March 3 meeting of American Home Economics Association.

In the first part of the program, Joyce Yokoo, Hawaii; Letecia Alonso, Mexico; Haruyo Sadaie, Japan, and Shobha Mansukhani, India, answered questions asked by Bonnie Cameron, moderator.

Differences in language, meals, clothing, and dating habits were discussed. All of the girls said the weather here is their greatest dislike. They chose to attend MSC because of acquired scholarships or because another student from their country recommended it.

Concerning dating habits, Miss Sadaie said that in Japan a girl's first kiss is from her fiancé. The parents choose their children's mates in Japan and India, but young people are beginning to be given some choice in the matter.

Adjusting to the English language has been their biggest obstacle, according to Miss Alonso and Miss Sadaie.

Dr. Lowe Attends Planning Session

Dr. James Lowe, social science instructor, recently attended a kick-off luncheon meeting in Jefferson City in preparation for the White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held in 1970 in Washington, D. C.

Acting as senior committeeman for the area composed of Nodaway, Holt, and Atchison counties, Dr. Lowe was accompanied by Randy Strautman, a junior committeeman from Tarkio College.

The improvement of youth opportunities in the church, school, and community was the main topic discussed by the participants. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes was the guest speaker at the luncheon.

Mrs. Wrensvold was on campus Monday and spoke at the joint meeting of Delta Psi Kappa and PEM Club that evening.
